March 2014

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me . . . (Matt. 28:18)

In my mind Jesus' Great Commission has forever begun with the word "go."

If I were to try and say those words by memory, that's where I would start. And I would very likely slip into the Elizabethan English of the King James Bible; "Go ye." That's how I learned those words, soaking them in throughout my childhood in Sunday school classes and Vacation Bible Schools and sermons and songs.

Somehow in my mind the great commission became the great go-mission.

But every time I open the Bible and actually read the words that Jesus spoke, I'm confronted with my error. Jesus is already speaking before he gets to the word 'go.' If we begin with 'go' we're late to the party and what we miss out on just might be critical for how we go or whether we go at all.

"All authority in heaven and one earth has been given to me."

This is the opening line of the great commission. Jesus doesn't begin with us and what we do. He begins with himself and who he is, his authority over all things in heaven and on earth.

We can think about this in a couple of ways. For starters, Jesus' statement about his authority sounds like it compels our obedience to his command to go and make disciples. Since Jesus has authority, we need to take seriously what he says. And if he says 'go,' we go.

But there is a different way that authority works in our lives, and this may be what Jesus wants us to know. His authority over all things doesn't simply compel obedience, it fills us with confidence. Without this confidence we will not go and carry out his mission.

If we skip this opening line and begin with 'go' we are likely to go in our own authority. And when we take on a spiritual calling in our own authority, things get weird. We become pushy. We do violence to others. We are not relaxed. We find it hard to love. We neglect prayer.

There is plenty to talk about when it comes to the word 'go.' What does going look like? Where does going lead us? These are good questions, but they are not a good beginning. Unless we are convinced that Jesus is indeed alive and actively accomplishing his will in this world, we will not go at all.

Maybe as you read this you're getting ready to go somewhere. Today, before you go, take a moment and give thanks to Jesus for his authority over all things. The decisions you're facing at work, the parenting tasks that consume your thoughts, the errands you need to run and the people you'll encounter – Jesus has authority over all of those things. He is already at work in those places and his commission is an invitation to join him there.

So go. But before you go, rest in his authority. And pay attention. Wherever you go, Jesus is already there.

Peace in Christ,

Pastor Kingsley

MARCH STARTS OUR LENTEN OBSERVANCE

We continue the rhythm of the liturgical year as we live through the life of Jesus the Christ in his life-changing ministry on Earth. We begin the first Sunday in March with the Transfiguration of the Lord in which we recall how Jesus and three of his apostles go to a mountain, and Jesus begins to shine with bright rays of light. Then, the prophets Moses and Elijah appear next to him, and he speaks with them. He shows his disciples a glimpse of his heavenly glory.

We move immediately to Ash Wednesday on March 5. It is at this time we stop to reflect upon our mortal condition and to hear those familiar words, “Remember, from dust you are and to dust you shall return.” We come with penitent hearts indicating our desire to search our hearts and change our lives. We humble ourselves and receive the ashes in the shape of a cross on our foreheads reminding us of the good news of the gospel – forgiveness for all and life in Christ.

We leave and go back out into the world ready to do our soul searching in a positive way taking stock of our lives, our shortcomings, our separation from God and his will for our lives. It is during this time that we can make changes in how we live in relationship with God, ourselves, and with others. The season of Lent is a time to set things right.

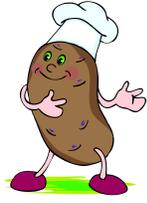

Our chancel choir will be supporting our Lenten journey with anthems to help us along the way. On Ash Wednesday we offer this sung prayer:

*Search me, O God, and know my heart today;
Try me, O Savior, know my thoughts, I pray.
See if there be some wicked way in me;
Cleanse me from every sin and set me free.*

*Lord, take my life, and make it wholly thine;
Fill my poor heart with thy great love divine.
Take all my will, my passion, self and pride;
I now surrender, Lord, In me abide.*

Prayer Shawl Ministry News . . .

It was another month for those busy hands of the ladies who make the hugs that we send from our church doors. It seems like many of us are becoming known as “shawl ladies.” Here is where some of them were sent in the last few weeks:

- A beautiful blue and white (healing and peace) triangle shawl went to a young mother in the Greenville area who is battling stage 4 lung cancer. She has three children ages 8, 12, and 15. We also enclosed an angel pin which I understand she doesn't take off. She said the shawl and the prayers are giving her hope. We hope she takes a turn for the better very soon.
- Beryl Yungman sent a shawl to her daughter in Colorado, who in turn was delivering it to her grieving friend in Texas. Talk about taking a shawl on a long trip, but we heard this gift was well loved as were the folder of prayers the family all shared.
- As I said before, God knows where the shawl is going when we pick up the yarn and hook. One Sunday I started a shawl in teal, cream, and tan. The following Saturday I found out that a business lady and friend in our town lost her mother on the Sunday I started the shawl. I quickly packaged it up with a prayer for the “Loss of a Mother” and delivered it. It turns out that five years before, the mom was hit by a car and was in the hospital for months. We had sent a shawl to her then and she loved it. Now the daughter has one to hug her and bring her memories of her mom wearing one.
- Lisa Montalbano sent a shawl to her sister-in-law in Florida who had a friend in need of a hug. Our shawls do take flight as in angel wings and find the shoulders that need some comforting.
- Joan Howell made sure that Diana Bowe's granddaughter, Dakota, got a special made blanket from the church. Dakota has already had surgery and more are coming for this little lamb. Now we know she is covered up with all our prayers in the form of a blanket from the ministry.
- Barbara Hankins' and Joan Butensky's shawls have gone to residents at Orra Wood's Senior Care Facility. Robert Scharpf has gotten a wonderfully warm “man-colored” shawl to put around his shoulders, as well. Other residents there also are enjoying the warmth of the hugs made by these wonderful caring hands.
- One of Josephine Bartley's famous red/white/blue shawls will again drape the shoulders of a military mom who has a son about to be deployed. These are the hugs they need until their “soldier” returns safe. She said on receiving this, that she will snuggle with her two young children and read to them while they wait for word on daddy overseas.
- Darlene Bartley sent a shawl to Diane George who will send it on to a friend in Florida who is battling a serious illness. Our shawls do travel where needed.
- Lisa Montalbano did a lovely thing for our friend, Lori Baird. She made a shawl that Lori wanted. Lori has been going through a long recovery with her hand and had found a pattern she loved and Lisa put it together for her. What could be better than two shawl ladies helping each other? I hope the shawl warms Lori and hugs her all the time. God bless girls.

We know there were other gifts that were sent out, but this is just a sample of where our good deeds are going and finding new homes. We thank everyone who graciously put yarn into our bin. We got some nice gift bags, etc. to help send these presents from our church. God bless everyone who received a shawl gift and the hands of those who are busy creating them.

Until next month, considered yourselves hugged.
Wendy Paffenroth PSM Secretary

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE CONGREGATION

It is that time of year again when the Nominating Committee will be meeting, recruiting, and recommending Elders and Deacons for the class of 2017. If you would like to be considered or would like to submit a name for these offices or for Nominating Committee members for 2015, please fill out the bottom of this form, and give it to Karen Magee, place it in the collection plate, or leave it in the office. Please remember the following: the term is for three years, the Deacons meet on the first Sunday of each month, and the Elders meet on the fourth Wednesday of each month. Elders also meet with their respective committees once monthly, generally the second Sunday of the month. The Session and the congregation expect active participation from the Elders and Deacons. It is truly an honor to serve the church. Commitment to active participation includes attendance at the Session/Deacon meetings and the meetings of the committee to which the officer is assigned. In addition to attendance at meetings, active participation on the committee includes working to accomplish the responsibilities of the committee as listed in the Operations Manual. Please see the description of officer responsibilities by Sue Varden, Clerk of Session, in the Tower Tie for further information. If you have questions, please contact Karen Magee at 294-6443.

YOU MAY BE ASKED TO SERVE

Spring is coming and we will be filling vacancies on our Board of Deacons and Session for 2014-2017. If you are asked by a member of your church Nominating Committee to serve, we would hope that you will give their request your prayerful consideration.

Below are some of the responsibilities of Session Elders and Deacons (this is not a complete list). Attendance and participation at meetings is essential.

ELDERS – A ministry of discernment and governance.

The Session is responsible for the mission and government of the church. It is responsible to the congregation. It is composed of the Pastor who acts as Moderator and 18 Elders serving three-year terms. The Session meets at 7:30 p.m. on the fourth Wednesday of each month.

Each Elder is assigned to serve on a committee. There is a Moderator and Vice-Moderator (Session members) for each committee, appointed by the Pastor and confirmed by the Session. These committees are also made up of active members of the congregation. Committees meet monthly.

Elders are asked to serve on one of the following standing committees of Session.

- Worship & Music
- Christian Education
- Mission
- Outreach/Fellowship
- Property Management
- Finance & Administration

Elders are also expected to prepare and serve communion six months of the year, alternating with the Deacons.

DEACONS – A ministry of compassion and service.

The office of Deacon as set forth in Scripture is one of sympathy, witness and service after the example of Jesus Christ. It is responsible to the Session for the welfare, oversight and relief of the needy and overall service to the church and its members. It is composed of 21 members, and lead by a moderator who is chosen by the group. Deacons meet once a month following worship service.

The Deacons prepare the sanctuary for all worship services. That includes taking care of the church linens and candles, polishing the brass, preparing the baptismal font, serving as ushers (also at funerals) and preparing and serving communion, alternating months with the Session.

The Deacons traditionally provide Palm Sunday Breakfast, host a congregational picnic in June and green the church in December. They also raise funds for the Pastor's Discretionary Fund for people in need.
