November 2014

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

... then I will give him to the Lord all the days of his life (1 Samuel 1:11)

How do you get people emotionally invested in tires? You don't do it by talking about the tires, even if the tires are very good. You don't lead with mileage or warranties or the smooth ride that those tires provide to you as a driver or passenger. All of those things may be true, but they're boring.

Some years ago one tire company discovered a brilliant way to connect their steel-belted ring of rubber with the human heart. They did it with a baby. They plopped a diapered little chunk of cuteness in the middle of their tire and slowly rotated the infant as he or she looked about with wonderment. The message was quite effective. When the welfare of my little one is secured by riding on that tire, then that's the tire I want.

I'm writing this on the day following my stopping to get a Rules of The Road booklet for my daughter who will turn sixteen next February. I'm sensing a connection between my baby girl's well-being and a set of tires.

I'm also aware that the tire company's message, while effective, isn't true. Ultimately, a good set of tires can't secure the well-being of anyone we love. Good tires are important, but they're just tires. I'd like to think there's something I could do or something I could buy or something I could say that would keep the people I love from any and all risk of harm. There's not.

What I can do is pray and give those I love to God's care. We find a model for this kind of praying in Hannah, the mother of Samuel. For the longest time Hannah could not conceive a child. Then, as now, this was a source of great distress. Her prayers were mingled with bitter weeping. Hannah wasn't shy about pleading with God. Storming heaven's gates, she boldly promised that if God would grant her a son, "then I will give him to the Lord all the days of his life." (1 Samuel 1:9-11).

This might strike us as a manipulative prayer – a mix of begging and bargaining. Not so with Hannah. What is truly remarkable about her prayer is that her promise wasn't empty. She didn't forget it once her son was born, claiming some kind of exemption because of her distressed state of mind. What God gave to Hannah, Hannah gave back to God.

Eugene Peterson observes that Hannah was happy when her son was born. And she was even happier when she took him back to the temple and gave him back to God in the service of the priest Eli. We can hardly imagine giving a child back to God. For us that kind of talk is a metaphor, a nice idea. For Hannah it was real. Samuel belonged to God, not to her.

We tend to sentimentalize babies, using the emotions they stir to sell tires and plenty of other things. How do we take the ones God has entrusted to us and give them back to God? How do we do this with other aspects of life – a career, a possession, a talent, a marriage? Life comes to us by grace, all of it a gift. How will you give it back to God today?

Pastor Kingsley

NOVEMBER BRINGS THE CHURCH YEAR TO A CLOSE

On November 1, we have All Saints' Day when we remember all the departed saints — particularly those known to us in our congregation - who have passed on before us. Then the long-established church calendar, which takes us each year through the cycle of Christian observance, comes to a close on Christ the King Sunday, November 23. At this time, we pause and give thanks and praise for the sovereignty of Christ. We sing together the traditional Thanksgiving hymns we have known and loved over the years: “Come, Ye Thankful People Come,” “We Gather Together to Ask the Lord’s Blessing,” and “Now Thank We All Our God.”

The very next Sunday, November 30, is Advent I when we begin a new liturgical cycle once again with the familiar refrain, “O Come, O Come, Emmanuel.” Just as our daily calendars remind us to observe birthdays, anniversaries, and things to do, the church liturgical calendar provides a time for worshippers to observe, commemorate, and celebrate events relating to the life of Christ on Earth. On this Sunday we light the first candle on the Advent wreath as we look forward to the birth of Jesus and his coming to Earth to walk amongst us and, ultimately, redeem us from our sins and show us a new way of living.

Our music ministry is active, strong, and vibrant. At this time we are preparing music for the Advent and Christmas seasons. Come lend your voice and sing with us as the choir ministers in song each week.

We are a church family who comes together to worship, sing, listen, pray, and serve as we live out our Christian faith. Come be with us and share the special gift of your presence.

In closing, a blessing for all:

And now may the Lord bless you and keep you. May the Lord make His face to shine upon you and be gracious unto you. And may God give you His peace in your going out and in your coming in, in your lying down and in your rising up, in your labor and in your leisure, in your laughter and in your tears... Until you come to stand before Jesus in that day in which there is no sunset and no dawning. Amen.

SHARE PAGE

NOVEMBER SHARES.....

Since we started the Share Page, several people have given me some very cute things to share with the congregation. Some are a bit humorous and we all can use a laugh or two each day of our lives. If you have something to share, please give to me or leave in the church office and Pat will pass along.
Wendy Paffenroth

- Some Holy Humor - A father was approached by his young son who told him proudly, "I know what the Bible means!" His father smiled and replied, "What do you mean, you 'know' what the Bible means?" The son replied, "I just know." "Okay," said the Dad, "What does the Bible mean?" "That is easy Daddy, it stands for 'Basic Information Before Leaving Earth."
- An old gracious lady decided it was time to pass on the family Bible to her younger brother who lived in another part of the country. When she got to the Post Office window the clerk asked her, "Is there anything breakable in here?" "ONLY the Ten Commandments," answered the elderly lady.
- There are two kinds of people in the world. Those who wake up and say, "Good morning, Lord." And then there are those who say, "Good Lord, it's morning!"
- On Fundraising: The Pastor stood up to make the morning announcements to the congregation. He said, "I have some very good news. We have enough money to pay for our new roof. Unfortunately, the bad news is that it is still in your pockets."
- One from our neighboring state of Pennsylvania: While driving along the Pennsylvania highways a family caught up with an Amish carriage. The owner of the carriage obviously had a sense of humor because attached to the back of the carriage was this sign. "Energy Efficient Vehicle; Runs on Oats and Grass. Caution, please do not step in the EXHAUST."
- And with our Quilt show coming: Sunday after church a mom asked her daughter what she learned in Sunday school. The daughter answered, "Don't be scared, you will get your quilt." Needless to say the mother was perplexed and asked further what she meant. The little girl just told her to wait, she will get her quilt. Later that day the mom called the Sunday School Director and asked what the day's lesson had been. The reply was, "Be not afraid, Thy Comforter is coming."

News of the Prayer Shawl Ministry

October was a month where many hugs were given by those wonderful crocheting ladies, who can't sit still and are always creating something for someone.

A shawl was given to our lovely, Beryl Yungman who found herself in Orange Regional Medical Center for a few weeks. Recent reports show that she is on the mend and that she loved her blue shawl (blue is the healing color). We hope her strength returns soon as the memorial garden is missing her care. Glad you are getting better, Beryl.

Linda Boardman was finally presented with a loving hug as she recovered from her surgery. We are sorry, Linda that we didn't find out earlier that you were in the hospital, but we are glad we got you your gift as you continue to make strides forward. I am sure you will be up and dancing very soon.

A shawl was sent to Nina Kent in Arizona who recently lost her daughter. We are so sorry for her loss and hope that she will find some comfort in the gift we sent. We also got one out to Dorothy Montalbano, Lisa's mother-in-law, who was dealing with illness.

Several blankets were given to our precious little ones as they were baptized in the last month. Also a lovely shawl was given to Pam Pylant, as she was given an adult baptism. Pam is also working very hard in making scarves for the Midnight Runs and soon will be crocheting shawls like the rest of us.

Several baby blankets were sent to expectant mothers. The Luthin's in Warwick got their blessed event five weeks early and little Hazel had to be in the NICU unit for a spell. The card indicates that she is now home and doing well and loving her wonderfully warm blanket we sent. Another baby blanket was sent to Jack Knox's niece in North Carolina as she awaits the birth of her second child around Halloween. Her son was given a blanket by us five years ago, so we couldn't let this birth pass without one for the new baby, also. The card stated they were very grateful for the lovely blanket and the beautiful prayers that came along with it.

This is just a sampling of the gifts that were given from our doors in the past four weeks. I know I missed a few, but everyone who receives one feels the blessings that go with it. Thank you ladies for all the good work you are doing. You are truly hugging so many.

God bless, and consider yourselves hugged.

Wendy Lee Paffenroth – shawl secretary

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION

The ladies' monthly meeting was held on Monday, October 6 and was well attended. We shared names of those people from the church and their relatives that we knew could use some cheer. We passed around cards for everyone to sign and to write some good wishes.

We discussed the November 22 bake sale and we will be gathering dishes and baskets to give to those who will help us by baking some special treats to sell. We were sold out in a few hours last year and so we hope that this year we can get more items to sell. If you can bake a pan of brownies, some muffins, or some cookies and bring them either the evening before, November 21, or the day of the sale we would all appreciate it. We also are hoping a few people will volunteer to help at the table during the day. It is a great way to get to meet people visiting the church and to "hang out" with some of us "old timers." Please don't be shy. Jump in with both feet. You will make some great memories, as well.

If anyone knows of someone who is a shut-in and would love a Christmas box, please leave a note at the office with the name and address and Pat will put it in our mailbox. In the past, we have put together anywhere from a dozen to fifteen boxes. They are all appreciated and they bring a little joy into some members of our church family that just can't get out as much as they used to. We would like the names by the first Monday in December, if possible. You can also give the names to Fran Hoffmann or Betty Lobb on Sundays at the worship services. Thank you so much. Keep in mind if you are a cookie baker, we can use some cookies when we package the boxes.

Our next meeting will be on November 3 around 7:00 p.m. in the parlor. We invite all the ladies of the church to come out and join us. We need some insight on what project we would like to do next. Your thoughts would be appreciated.

Thank you and God bless each of you. Have a blessed and joyous Thanksgiving.

Wendy L Paffenroth - secretary
