Psalm 119:97–104

*Oh, how I love your law!
It is my meditation all day long.
Your commandment makes me wiser than my enemies,
for it is always with me.
I have more understanding than all my teachers,
for your decrees are my meditation.
I understand more than the aged,
for I keep your precepts.
I hold back my feet from every evil way,
in order to keep your word.
I do not turn away from your ordinances,
for you have taught me.
How sweet are your words to my taste,
sweeter than honey to my mouth!
Through your precepts I get understanding;
therefore I hate every false way.*

Whenever I hear of those who delight in laws or rules, my mind conjures up images of friends who are game aficionados, capable of arguing endlessly and joyfully over the finer points of baseball, role-playing games like Dungeons and Dragons, or board games like Monopoly. We tend to think the only people who could ever love rules and regulations are those who revel in minutiae. So for many of us the psalmist's delight in the reading of law seems so anathema to us.

But Torah, often referred to as laws and precepts in biblical translations, is more than regulations. The Torah threads law into stories. Together they succeed in describing the relationship between God, all peoples, and a particular people. There are mighty acts of redemption and triumph. There are crushing defeats, bitter betrayals, heartache, and wonders. The stories of the Torah give emotional weight to commandments that ask us to love our neighbor, honor the Sabbath, and welcome the stranger, for each of these rules relates to important experiences in the life of a covenantal people.

So like honey from the rock, there is sweetness to procure from even the seemingly rote pages of law, statutes, and commandments. The psalmist knows it. And if we look at the whole Torah, and the fullness of the Hebrew scriptures, we can taste it too.

Pastor Kingsley

Music Notes

As I write this, I am still coming down from the delightful "Tricentennial Ball" held on Saturday, October 19, at the Harness Racing Museum and Hall of Fame. The conviviality, the food, and the silent auction were all very enjoyable.

I keep coming face to face with all the support and love this congregation has! In particular, right now, the organ project is occupying much of your time and concern. I can't express how grateful and pleased I am. I hope the outcome will be everything you could hope for, and more.

The Austin Company has made a preliminary proposal, involving less digital than before, and some appropriate new pipe work. This is getting cheaper and easier to find, unfortunately! But it could be our gain. It will all depend on price; we can leave room for future growth. I will become much more specific as soon as I can!

Halloween, Thanksgiving, Christ the King, and Advent are coming. On Sunday the 27th, there will be a 3 PM Halloween program in the sanctuary. Costumes are welcome, as are all ages. Looking ahead, the handbell choir will be performing at least once in November. They are doing a great job learning new material and you will be hearing more from them.

Consider singing with the choir during Advent and Christmas. It's a lovely thing to do for yourself as well as for everyone else!

On December 22, we'll have our third annual Christmas carol sing-along. Plan to come!

Blessings,

Jonathan

News Notes of Presbyterian Women...

Five dedicated ladies braved the rainstorm to come to the October meeting of PW. First, we designed the display that was going to be put out on Stewardship Sunday in October. We hope everyone stopped by to see it.

Discussion followed about our annual Christmas boxes for our members who are unable to attend services due to various reasons. Each year we deliver a package to many who enjoy knowing that they are not forgotten. We do need your help though, in preparing these gifts. In November, there will be a basket or box in the Narthex to drop in your donations. If you know of someone who would like to receive a holiday box, please leave the name and address (and phone number if you have it) with Carolyn Keller or Betty Lobb or leave in the office with Pat to put in the PW mailbox. Many years we have delivered up to 20 or more gifts.

We also try to add a special treat such as a tin of cookies/brownies/cookie bars/mini muffins, etc. These will be needed on packaging day which is scheduled for December 12 in Fellowship Hall. We believe we have enough Christmas tins, but of course, if you do have some pretty ones we may be able to use them to put in some of the gift items. So leave them also, in the basket in the Narthex.

We are looking for the following items, but please don't limit it to these. If you can think of something that might be appreciated, add it to our "stash" for distribution.

We are hoping to get many of the following:

Note cards and stamps, varieties of teas, large print books, paperbacks, hand lotions, small packages of tissues, game books, puzzles, packages of candy, mints or lifesavers (some sugar free), chap stick, ladies scarves, slipper socks or other socks, small flashlights, hot cocoa mixes, playing cards, small books on faith, etc. These are just some suggestions. Please use your imagination and think what you might like to receive.

So mark the date of December 12 for donation of cookies, etc. and to have the gifts left for PW for packaging. We can also use help the day of packaging and if you are willing to deliver some of the boxes for us, we also would appreciate that. In the bulletin or the next Tower Tie, we will let you know the time we will meeting.

Holiday Fair time is again upon us.

Baking day will be on November 21 and 22. Bring your apple peelers and a friend too, then join the fun. Ladies are more than grateful for the donations of pie plates to put the apple and pumpkin pies in. If you cannot attend to help but would like to contribute, monetary donations are more than welcome to be used to purchase the ingredients needed for this fund raiser for the ladies. Donations can be given to Carol Gabella or left into PW mailbox in the church office. If you think you want to preorder a pie for your thanksgiving meal, let Carol Gabella or Carolyn Keller know by November 10th. If you can help on November 23 to sell the pies let PW know. PW will also accept other baked goods to sell at the Holiday Fair. We are grateful for the help of all our sisters in faith (and the guys who pitch in as well).

Carolyn Keller will also be looking for those great soup and chili makers. She has the jars, tags, and even recipes for those of you who like to help with this part of PW as well. If you need jars ahead of time see Carolyn Keller.

Our next meeting will be on Monday, December 2 at 6:30 pm in the parlor of the church. Hoping you can join us.

God bless,

Presbyterian Women
