Philippians 4:1-9

Therefore, my brothers and sisters, whom I love and long for, my joy and crown, stand firm in the Lord in this way, my beloved. I urge Euodia and I urge Syntyche to be of the same mind in the Lord. Yes, and I ask you also, my loyal companion, help these women, for they have struggled beside me in the work of the gospel, together with Clement and the rest of my co-workers, whose names are in the book of life. Rejoice in the Lord always; again I will say, Rejoice. Let your gentleness be known to everyone. The Lord is near. Do not worry about anything, but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known to God. And the peace of God, which surpasses all understanding, will guard your hearts and your minds in Christ Jesus. Finally, beloved, whatever is true, whatever is honorable, whatever is just, whatever is pure, whatever is pleasing, whatever is commendable, if there is any excellence and if there is anything worthy of praise, think about these things. Keep on doing the things that you have learned and received and heard and seen in me, and the God of peace will be with you.

When did joy become such a difficult thing? Maybe it's always been hard and I'm just finally took notice. But as joy gets harder and harder to hang on to most days, it also feels more necessary. I grew up with the privilege of happiness, an overabundance of joy. As I found my way in this world and started to realize all the places of overabundant woe, I started to feel uncomfortable about my joyful privilege. I began to believe that, because of all of my advantages, I should only push myself to do the hardest thing with a puritanical fervor. Joy was a waste of time, a drag on my productivity and a privilege I no longer deserved. In other words, I became somewhat of a bummer to be around.

But Paul, the patron saint of try-harders and those trying to atone for their past enjoyments, writes to the Philippians of joy, from prison no less, as vital. Rejoice in the Lord always. Paul reframes joy for us in this passage from a frivolity to something that does real work. Rejoicing in the Lord, together and always, is the remedy for the divisions in their community. Joy is the antidote to their anxiety. Joy is the gateway to knowing peace.

So I stand with Paul now, calling us all to rejoice in the Lord. Not a saccharine, self-serving happiness, but a deep joy. Come join me in the hard work joy of finding God's presence in unexpected places and celebrating it.

Pastor Kingsley

Music Notes

Things are underway. There will be a Halloween event again on Sunday, October 27. It should be even more fun than last year's. We expect to hold another Christmas carol sing-a-long on Sunday, December 22. This event has rapidly become a fixture in the Goshen community, and I'm delighted that it has struck a chord and become so popular. May it continue to grow.

The news about the organ is hopeful but sobering. We need to raise about a hundred thousand dollars more. The nationally-respected philanthropic researcher in my life is working with me, brainstorming to find major donors; if you are willing to step up and make a major gift towards the organ, that would be appreciated beyond all words. In the meantime, please continue to support our raffles and other initiatives. All of these express your love and support, and are also appreciated beyond words. Keep it all coming, and we'll get there.

Handbells and choir meet on Wednesdays this fall: handbells from 6:30 to about 7:20 in the sanctuary, and choir from 7:30 to about 8:30 in the parlor. This is a great time to join the music ministry. People are welcome from high school and up (with parental approval as appropriate). As we celebrate the last 300 years, let's not forget to plan for the next 300.

After six productive years, my tenure on the AGO's Committee on Professional Certification has come to its required close. This is how the Guild's rules work. A new chair has been appointed, and he seems to be an ideal candidate in many ways. I look forward to new ways of giving service, and am grateful to have had the opportunity to work with such good colleagues.

I'm grateful to be working with you, too. Have a great fall!

Jonathan

BOOK STUDY

Our next book study will be starting on Monday, October 14 at 7:30 pm in the church parlor.

We will be reading the book WHISPER, How to Hear the Voice of God by Mark Batterson. The book is available on Amazon, Barnes & Nobles or at your favorite bookstore. We plan to meet for six weeks finishing up before Thanksgiving. All are welcome to join us (even if you cannot make every week!)

Where do you hear God in your life?

Please let us know if you plan to join us.

News Notes of Presbyterian Women...

The ladies of the church met a week later in September due to Labor Day. Nine women attended the meeting.

The plaque for our former treasurer, Jean Strong has been placed by the two trees in front of the church by Jody Kopec. Thank you for your assistance in helping us with the project, Jody. Jean's daughters, Cathy Jorgensen and Anne Blake, came to see the plaque as well.

October 13 is Stewardship Sunday. As in the past, we will set up a table so that people who do not know what we do can visit our spot and talk to the ladies. If anyone has any photos of things the women have done in the church, please see Carol Gabella. She will give you her email so you can forward the photos to her for our display. Thank you in advance.

Since November 23 is the Holiday Fair, the ladies decided to once again do their bake table. Plates and dishes for your donated items will be available a few weeks before. We appreciate your donations. Also on November 21 and 22 there will be pie baking in the church kitchen for this sale. All help is greatly appreciated. Those who have collected pie plates can turn them in before hand for the sale. Again we thank the congregation for your support of this endeavor. Because of sales like this, we were able to purchase new pots and pans for the upgraded kitchen.

We once again will be collecting items to help fill Christmas boxes for our shut-ins or those who have a difficult time attending the worship services. If you know of someone who would appreciate a Christmas box, please let Carolyn Keller know with the name, address, and phone number so we can start to compile a list so we don't miss anyone.

Our next meeting is the first Monday of November at 6:30 p.m. in the parlor. We invite you to join us and bring ideas with you. God bless you with a lovely autumn.

PAY YOUR PER CAPITA ASSESSMENT FOR 2019

Every year, the Presbytery of the Hudson River charges every member church an assessment according to the current active membership. and we would like to share them with you.*

Tears of joy, tears of sorrow
Get washed away by next tomorrow.
Shades of grey will touch your heart.
When love beats strong the gray will part.
Surround yourself with good kind people.
I've found mine beneath a steeple.
It took some time, but I made it there.
New peace, love, and kindness with the world I will share.

A road not taken, a peak not climbed,
A hand not held, a heart unfurled.
A life long journey filled with sorrow and pain
Awaits a spark and an open flame.
To rekindle a life that has always been there,
Ready and willing to spread kindness everywhere.
The road will be taken.
The peak will be climbed.
The hand will be held and the heart, the heart will be most kind.

Cookies-for-Caring

Once again, Teen Voices and the Confirmands will prepare cookie care packages for members of our congregation who are not able to join us at church. Whether they are at college, in the service or physically unable to make it to church we can prepare a "thinking of you" package to let them know their FPG family is thinking of them.

We will be accepting names and addresses of people in our church family that you think need a little "caring." Please let us know by October 13.

Financial support is also welcome to offset the cost of preparing the packages and mailing them.

Please contact us with any questions.
